Useful Reading Resources

Dear Parents/Guardians

Please find below a list of useful websites where you will be able to access books online for free. Bug Club and Oxford Owl provide free book banding books which we use in school. Many school reading books come from publishing companies linked to a phonic programme which need to be purchased in bulk and therefore they do not produce e-books online.

Please continue to share and enjoy picture or chapter books at home as this will continue to develop your child's comprehension skills and a love for reading. Watching e-books online will also continue to enhance their reading skills and provide you with a well-earned rest. Your child's year group will also be posting books on Tapestry for your child to watch at home and enjoy.

Bug Club

Your child would have been issued with a Bug Club log in at the beginning of the year. The school code is xxgl. This is a great resource that will not only help your child's fluency but also their comprehension skills by answering the bug questions. Please do reread books as this will improve your child's fluency.

Oxford Owl

You can select your child's colour book band and access a wide range of books to read online. We use these books in school. You will need to create a log in account but it is free.

Amazon Audible

Amazon Audible have made all stories free to stream. Encourage children to download a story of their choice to keep them hearing books aloud. You will need to select the littlest listeners or elementary where some of these will be appropriate for year 2.

Book Trust

The Book Trust have created the Book Trust Cupboard. Here you will find lots of activities to complete with your child as well as online stories.

Phonics Play

This website has been made free to use again. We use this resource in school and your children are familiar with it. Practising phonic knowledge daily will help your child become a fluent reader.

PhonicsPlay

Reading Eggs

Reading Eggs are providing a free 30 day trial. You will have to sign up and to begin with it will ask your child to complete a series of activities to find the correct level for them.
